CAREFUL TRAINING

POST-WAR CONDITIONS IN NAVY WILL DO AWAY WITH FRICTION

L. T. Rowley says the following points were made clear in an interview with a friend who is a close observer of naval affairs:

That war conditions in the United States at the beginning of our last war were different from those that faced any country at any time. At the conclusion of the recruiting for the service, only about one officer in five was a man trained in the Navy and it was impossible, owing to war conditions, to thoroughly train the hundreds of thousands of boys who had joined the service on patriotic principles. This led to many unavoidable errors. Even in times of peace and with thoroughly trained men errors have crept in, and under the strenuous war conditions many errors were made.

At the same time, the boys recruited for Naval service were of the freest type of manhood, unused to discipline and not the kind who took readily to control. In spite of these conditions, ships manned by this class of boys and officered in many cases by reserves, with the exception of one or two officers, fulfilled in the finest way the work to which they were sent.

It was only natural that these boys, accustomed to the freedom of civilian life, should want to return to it at the end of the war.

No officer, properly trained, would feel, much less express a social superiority to the men whom he commanded.

That the present conditions of our new Navy will revive the possibility of careful training for officers and men, remove friction owing, to wearisome service which the war necessitated, and provide time and opportunity for the better training of the boys along educational and mechanical lines, is the prediction of this man who is so thoroughly posted in Naval affars.

GLOVERS HAVE GUESTS FROM EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Glover of 416 Myrtle are entertaining the latter's mother, Mrs. Henry Thorwart of Chicago and her sister, Mrs. Wm. Eckart, and little daughter Inez, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Thorwart has been here for short visits in former years, but will now stay all winter. It is Mrs. Eckart's first time in Glendale, however, and she is fairly enraptured with its scenic and climate attractions.

BAPTIST CHURCHES DEBATE UNION

Glendale people who have heard many times and greatly admire Dr. Brougher and Dr. James A. Francis, the two most prominent Baptist ministers in Los Angeles and all the Southland, are greatly interested in the proposition to unite the two congregations to which they minister and build a large church, centrally located. This question is up before them now and both pastors have offered in case of the union being effected to resign and let the joint congregation select a pastor to serve them.

CORDIAL RECEPTION

REV. E. E. FORD, NEW BAPTIST MINISTER, WARMLY WELCOMED TO CITY

Though Rev. Ford has been ministering to the Baptist Church in Glendale since July 1st, he was not formally welcomed to his new post until Tuesday evening, as so many of his people were away on vacations during the two months past and it was desired to have a full representation when the event came off. More than a hundred people gathered in the church for the occasion and all spent a joyous evening. Roy Kent was chairman for the evening and welcomed Rev. Ford in behalf of the Sunday School, while A. J. Maxwell spoke in the same vein in the name of the church. Revs. Willisford, Edmonds and Mottern, pastors respectively of the Congregational, Presbyterian and Lutheran Churches, also spoke warm words of brotherly greeting to the new pastor, welcoming him to the city and the body of Christian people living therein. Little Ethel Kent gave a charming recitation, Miss Mary E. Wright sang and the Sunday School string orchestra under the leadership of R. E. Olin played several selections. Bountiful refreshments were served by the good ladies of the church.

BUSINESS CHANGES

MANY NEW FACES IN PERSONNEL OF GLENDALE BUSINESS MEN

Many business changes have taken place in Glendale since the first of January due in part to the general renewed activity in business since the close of the war. Many new firms have been established and changes have been made in other ways.

In automobile circles there is the firm of Bartlett & French, established in April to distribute Hudson and Essex cars in this vicinity. Since going into business in Glendale these gentlemen have built a modern auto show room at Harvard and Brand.

T. G. Widmeyre took the agency for the Nash car for Glendale and surrounding territory about six months ago and is located at Brand and Wilson.

The George W. Campbell Company, Maxwell distributors, recently located at 217 East Broadway, has now become Campbell & Sutherland with headquarters in the new MacMullin building on Brand.

The Autolectric Service Company is a new firm recently established at 306 East Broadway by A. S. Knox, who came here from Covina.

Next door at 308 East Broadway the Smith Brothers, also a new firm, are busy buying and selling used cars and automobile supplies, under the name of Broadway Auto Sales & Supply Company.

The Service Garage & Ignition Works, under the management of Whaley & Son, is located at 217 East Broadway. This business was established about six months ago.

The Johnston Tire Co. was established at 214 East Broadway a few months ago.

A. W. Crumb has just completed a new brick oil station at Brand and

HEARTILY WELCOME

MONROVIA DAILY EXTENDS THE GLAD HAND TO THE LAWSHES

A. L. Lawshe, now a resident of Monrovia, expressed great regret, on his visit here last Monday, at having to leave Glendale, which he preferred above all other California cities as an abiding place and it was not really his fault that he had to move, he says. He had his eye on a 5-acre tract in the western part of Glendale which he was quite anxious to buy and improve, but the owners, scenting much higher future values in real estate as a result of Glendale's great business and building boom, would not name a satisfactory price, so he had to buy where there was no such incentive to price advances, and staid old Monrovia offered him the opportunity. Glendale regrets to lose the Lawshes, but hopes they will be happy in their new home, in the prosaic surroundings of which Mr. L. may yet be able to write a new edition of, "The Annals of a Quiet Neighborhood." We quote below the Monrovia Daily News' welcome to its new citizens, with the correction that they came to Glendale from Wabash, Ind., the home of both from childhood, not from Washington:

Hon. A. L. Lawshe, formerly third assistant postmaster general, has taken to ranching as a relaxation from many strenuous years devoted to politics and governmental business in Washington. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Lawshe came to Southern California on the hunt of a small bit of land set to the well-known fifty-seven varieties of fruit trees, with a bungalow tucked in among the foliage and a view of snow-capped mountains as the permanent drop to the scene. The Washingtonians first favored the Glendale neighborhood with a thorough inspection. They liked it, but were not entirely satisfied. Then Mr. Lawshe had an inspiration. "Let's go to Monrovia," he said, unconsciously quoting many less famous visitors. The result of the Monrovia trip was the discovery of the I. B. Henderson ranch on Eighth avenue, half a mile south of this city. The property exactly suited the enthusiastic postal official and his wife. Mr. Henderson was persuaded to sign a deed and today Mr. and Mrs. Lawshe are being initiated into the mysteries of horticulture and are learning the names, habits and properties of many strange and wonderful growing things they found flourishing in the rich soil of their new farmlet. As an antidote for the cares incident to business and political life Mr. Lawshe declares Southern California ranching is the one best prescription.

TREATY PRESENTED TO SENATE

FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE ACCOMPANIES DOCUMENT WITH REPORT CRITICIZING PRESIDENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Senate Foreign Relations committee today submitted the peace treaty to the Senate with reservations and with a six-page report bitterly criticizing President Wilson's attitude toward the treaty.

Senator Lodge presented the report. Senator Hitchcock will present a minority report supporting the treaty in a short time.

The report declared the demand for speedy action on the treaty is "largely the work of the administration and its newspaper organs" and that "certain great banking firms" with a "direct pecuniary interest" in the ratification of the treaty are backing the same demands.

The report points out that England is the only nation that has ratified the treaty thus far and intimates that ratification is to the advantage of England.

The report concluded with the declaration that "when we are once caught in the meshes of an alliance or a League of Nations composed of twenty-six other powers our freedom of action is gone."

JOHNSON FIRES FIRST GUN AGAINST LEAGUE

CALIFORNIA SENATOR DECLARES PEACE CONFERENCE "GAME OF EUROPEAN AND ASIATIC DIPLOMACY"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, September 10.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California opened his campaign against the League of Nations with a speech to the Hamilton Club here this afternoon.

His speech was bristling and indirectly hurled back at the president his charge that the Senators opposing the League are "quitters." He charged that at the peace conference President Wilson abandoned his principles of "open covenants openly arrived at;" adequate guarantees for the reduction of armaments;" and self determination for small nations.

He declared that the "game" played at Paris was a "game of diplomacy played by European and Asiatic diplomats in which the American people neither have a part nor want a part."

QUESTION OF PEACE OR WAR

PRESIDENT SAYS FAILURE TO RATIFY TREATY WILL CAUSE DESPAIR THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BISMARK, N. D., September 10.—President Wilson speaking here today declared that the question before the United States in its consideration of the peace treaty is flatly a question of peace or war.

He declared the treaty failure would cause despair and "men in despair destroy governments."

He maintained that America's delay is injuring the entire world and that the League of Nations covenant must be made a part of the treaty.

PEACE WITH AUSTRIA

CHANCELLOR RENNER, HENRY WHITE, GEN. BLISS AND SEC. POLK SIGN THIS MORNING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, September 10.—The treaty with Austria bringing peace with that nation was signed at St. Germaine this morning. The treaty was signed with practically no pomp or ceremony or historical setting such as marked the signing of the German treaty.

The meeting was held in the "stone age" room of the St. Germaine palace. Dr. Renner, the Austrian chancellor signed for his country. He was followed by Henry White, General Bliss and Under-Secretary of State Polk for the United States. No addresses were delivered.

Following the signature of the treaty the Austrian delegates signed two engagements. By the first they agree to furnish a list of vessels sunk by Austria during the war. By the other they promise to turn over within thirty days a list of Austrians responsible for the war.

STRIKING POLICEMEN MAKE TROUBLE

MASSACHUSETTS STATE MILITIA CALLED TO MAINTAIN ORDER IN BOSTON WHERE RIOT IS IN PROGRESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BOSTON, September 10.—Rioting was resumed at 1:30 this morning in the strike of Boston policemen. Great crowds are moving toward the business section. There is much fighting.

At 1:45 an emergency call was sounded for the mobilization of the state militia to maintain order.

PERSHING HEADS PARADE

NEW YORK, September 10.—General Pershing headed the parade of the First Division here this morning. This was the first American organization to arrive in Europe and the first to see action. Pershing and the division were given a great ovation.

A BUSY SUMMER

MR. AND MRS. E. A. RADCLIFF ENTERTAIN OLD FRIENDS IN GLENDALE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Radcliff of 426 Pioneer Drive are rather proud of their three-acre ranch in the heart of the city, for though they have occupied it for only eight months they have a very productive garden that supplies all the vegetables needed by them and considerable to spare for the market, and they have many fruit and ornamental trees coming on which they set out soon after moving on to the place. They are fortunate in having many acquaintances within a radius of 25 miles and many of these have hunted them up this summer and enjoyed outings and visits. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. E. Hadevee, formerly of Chicago, where Mr. H. was a manufacturing jeweler and with them the Radcliffs took several auto tours to points of interest. Then there were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ebersol of Palms, where they own a fine home within two miles of the ocean. Mr. Radcliff was born on Mr. Ebersol's father's farm in Illinois. Other guests were Chas. Crawford, an Azusa contractor and builder, his wife and two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Wade and mother, also of Azusa; Dr. Rankin and mother of Los Angeles, Dr. Claude Sayre, wife and three sons of Provo, Utah, who were enjoying a visit to Southern California. Dr. Sayre is a minister and was principal of an academy in Provo, and preached during his stay here at Huntington Park. He and Mr. Radcliff came from the same town in Illinois.

Fuller Austin and wife and a daughter, Mrs. Hadley, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., but now located in Long Beach, where they recently purchased a beautiful home; Mrs. Reynolds' daughter and granddaughter of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Clouse, Iowa people who recently bought a home in Glendale; Mrs. Billie Scott of Ida Grove, Iowa, who spent a month at Santa Monica with a friend and who was a neighbor of Mrs. Radcliff for six years in Iowa; Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Essinger and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Knight of Los Angeles, all these have been recent guests of the Radcliffs. Mrs. Knight is their daughter.

Besides fruit and vegetables, of which they have sold $250 worth this summer from the little ranch, the Radcliffs raise chickens, pheasants and white rabbits, so they can almost imagine they are on a regular farm back east. Their fall garden is well stocked with string and lima beans, tomatoes, onions and sweet potatoes, so the high cost of living has no terrors for them.

TUESDAY CLUB MEETS

The Tuesday Club's meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Temple, vice-president, was mainly devoted to preparations for issuing the year book, which will be printed and in the hands of the members before the end of October. The program committee was present and presented the program for the first half of the year. Mrs. Harry Duffield resigned as secretary and Mrs. Albert Pearce was elected to fill the vacancy.

LAST CHANCE FOR CHEAP BACON

About $65 worth of government bacon yet remains on hand at the city hall and Mr. Brewster announces that it will be cut into smaller pieces, from three to five pounds in weight and placed on sale Saturday morning at 8 o'clock in the room at 618 East Broadway. This will be the last chance to get good bacon at the low price of 37c a pound and it is hoped all can be disposed of by noon.

ASA BOTT REACHES HOME

Asa Bott arrived at home Sunday and was rapturously greeted by his parents and other relatives. The parents, W. N. Bott and wife, now live at 667 Patterson avenue. Asa was in service over two years and in France since February, 1918. He was with Co. C, 23d Engineers until the last three months, when he served with the American Relief Expedition under Herbert Hoover, doing clerical work, chiefly. He was offered the alternative of a lucrative post in London, or home. He said "Home for me," and came as soon as he was released.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS TO BE LET

Bids for the two reinforced concrete bridges to carry both highways of Brand boulevard over the new channel of Verdugo Wash were opened Monday and the contracts will be awarded this week, according to the engineer in charge of the work.

WHY MEAT IS HIGH

PACKER'S TESTIMONY IS QUESTIONED BY DEALERS, WHO ARE CLOSEST TO CONSUMER

Testifying before a fair price committee in Los Angeles Monday, a representative of one of the meat packers laid the blame for high prices of meat on the public, claiming that the demand for choice cuts causes a glut in cheaper cuts. The average business man would say that this should bring a marked lowering of prices in the cheaper cuts and a corresponding increase in the choice. Instead of this the increase has been the same on all cuts. This witness also declared that the city dealers did not get their supplies cheaper than those in the outside towns. There is not a dealer in Glendale but knows this statement is untrue. The prices of all cuts of fresh meat are published daily in the city papers, the figures being furnished by the wholesalers, and many a time the big city stores advertise cuts of nearly every kind considerably under these wholesale prices. Either they are selling below cost or else they get their supplies far cheaper than the small-city dealer, who is thus embarrassed and handicapped by his inability to meet the prices of the big city stores. Of course, the consumer has it in his power to bring down the price of meat by refusing for a time to buy it, but this would work hardship on the home dealer as well as the producer. Many people think that the main cause of high prices is the immense quantity of meats in storage and that when a glut of fresh meats threatens a drop in price, sufficient is drawn into storage to create an artificial scarcity and a consequent rise in price.

MILLER HOLMAN DELAYED

Geo. T. Holman and wife of 104 North Central avenue were considerably disappointed last night when their son, Miller, failed to arrive from San Francisco, as expected. All trains were heavily loaded and running several hours late, they were told, and only a few soldiers are allowed on each train by the rail management, so as not to crowd regular passengers. It is probable his coming was delayed for this reason and he will arrive later.

NORMAL SERVICE ON P. E.

Car service on the Pacific Electric between Glendale and Los Angeles, is practically back to normal again, with trains running on the old 15, 20 and 30-minute schedule. Patrons of the P. E. and the L. A. Railway lines have been very patient during the uncalled for strike, but they are might glad to see full service resumed. All of the striking employes of both lines will be taken back as their services are needed, it is announced, if it cannot be proved that they were guilty of destroying company property or abusing the loyal employes who stayed at their posts. Many of the irreconciliable employes of the L. A. Railway Company lines, in conjunction with other Labor Union men, demanded that the city take over and manage the lines for the benefit of the employes, but with no success so far.

A TALE OF FIVE BOYS

PLAYMATES IN CHILDHOOD NOW SEPARATED BY THOUSANDS OF MILES

Eight or nine years ago there lived as close neighbors five boys, four of them about 12 to 14 years of age and the fifth, a younger brother of one. They played and quarreled and made up again, and they continued this intimacy for several years though no longer close neighbors. Finally the war came. One of the group enlisted in the regulars on April 10, 1917, and was assigned to the 8th cavalry. Another became a sailor and was made a member of a gun crew. The third enlisted and was sent to Siberia, while the fourth developed tuberculosis of the bone of one hip and became a cripple, dragging around on crutches. The fifth was too young for soldier or sailor and is still at home. And he is the only one now in Glendale, Don Wells, living with his parents at 333 West Harvard street. His brother, Neal, is in Marfa, Texas, with the 8th Cavalry, which has just returned from the fruitless invasion of Mexico to punish the abductors of the two U. S. aviators. They were at the Presidio, on the banks of the Rio Grande, in camp when the orders came to pursue and capture the Mexican bandits. On their return they

AMERICA'S NEW REPUTATION

America has acquired a new reputation and gained a new standing in the thought of intelligent Europeans. America is no longer regarded as the land of the dollar, but as the land of idealism. This is what a French philosopher, Paul Caultier, says in his recent book, "The Moral Lessons of the War."

He maintains that in the great war France was characterized by courage, Britain by a sense of honor, while Russia showed her deeply ingrained mysticism and America revealed her idealistic disinterestedness.

The note of idealism runs through American history. The late war simply made it manifest to all. The United States arose to the call of duty in a way so spirited, so utterly wthout thought of cost in blood and treasure that the whole world was compelled to recognize that America is made of heroic stuff.

No doubt, America's new reputation for idealism is deserved. It finds individual illustration in careers like that of Andrew Carnegie. However much one may criticise a system that permits the accumulation of such enormous wealth in the hands of one man, yet it is a source of strength that American idealism so inwrought itself into Mr. Carnegie that he used his wealth in a large social spirit. He could not, if he would, escape the challenge of American idealism. This quality, which is strong enough to direct a whole nation in a supreme crisis, will lift us out of mere self-interest into large fields of co-operation and service, if it gets a chance.—Minneapolis Journal.

PRUSSIANISM AND BOLSHEVISM

The antagonists of the so-called National Service Act, and of Secretary Baker's bill for a standing army and a huge conscript reserve, are doing the country good service in pointing out the bad features of both proposals. To put the matter plainly, the aim of Messrs. Chamberlain and Kahn, added to that of Secretary Baker and the General Staff, is to force on the country a state of affairs exactly analogous to that which we were called upon to condemn so vigorously in Prussia.

It is now charged that General Pershing's tour is designed to help this campaign, and that the American Legion will endorse the plan at its November convention. At all events, it is certain that a coterie of military jingoes wants to introduce Prussianism to America, and it is equally certain that America should be on its guard against such wily proposals.

Even now, it is evident that some of the military gentlemen who have been conspicuous in the past two years feel that they are very much above a common civilian organization like Congress. General Pershing's refusal to furnish information to the Congressional committee investigating expenditures, is a case in point. We doubt if such things will help the military program. Returning soldiers haven't much respect for their officers, in many cases, and their denunciation of the system is Bolshevistic enough. And next year there will be a Presidential election!—The Tidings.

TRIUMPH OF AMERICAN INGENUITY

In his recent book, "The Inventions of the Great War," A. Russell Bond, managing editor of the Scientific American, describes the triumphs of American ingenuity. By a style lucid and interesting the author makes the complexities of U-boats, wireless apparatus, machine guns, mines and airplanes, remarkably clear.

Three great inventions determined the character of the fighting, says Mr. Bond, and make it different from any the world had seen. The submarine was America's invention, and it carried the war down into the sea. The airplane was an American invention, and this carried the war into the sky. Americans invented the machine gun, which drove the war into the ground.

Surely the inventive genius that wrought such revolution in war could do much for better government and social organization if applied to these problems. It is simply a question of focusing this inventive genius on questions of social machinery and co-operation.

Such ability follows the pathway of greatest public concern and reward. Adequate pay and recognition of teachers and other social workers are the magnets that will draw American genius to triumphs of ingenuity in politics and economics.

DELUSION OF PROFIT FROM CHEAP LABOR

"If cheap labor meant prosperity, then China and India would be the most prosperous nations of the world. But cheap labor means just the opposite of prosperity, means it both to the laborer and to the man who hires him." So says J. Sidney Cates in the Country Gentleman in a discourse on cotton in the south.

It is the delusion of a profit in cheap labor as compared with high-priced labor which has given our cities their ugly slums, their breeding places of crime, bolshevism, tuburculosis and other plagues, moral, physical and economic.

It is the delusion that cheap labor is cheap which has kept children employed in mills and factories and mines, stunting their growth, preventing them from becoming strong, capable citizens.

It is the delusion that cheap labor is cheap which has produced the condition of which a trained observer can say: "I went recently through the Ghetto of New York City, notorious for its depth of misery and poverty, but I can pick a hundred thousand white men's farms in the south whereon there is ten times the misery to be found in this section."

The only profit in cheap labor is temporary. In the long run even the employer loses by it, and the result to the community is always a loss.

The chain is never stronger than its weakest link. Whenever there are people in the community trying to live on a wage which is not a decent living wage, there is a weak link, a drag upon themselves and upon all the others workers in the community.

To pay all men alike would put a damper upon initiative. It would hold the whole world to a dead level. But there should be a minimum standard below which no one should be allowed to live.—Riverside Press.

PASTURES FOR DROUGHT-HIT STOCK

The activities of the United States Department of Agriculture in saving thousands of cattle from starvation last season by transferring the animals from the drought-stricken regions of Texas to other southern pastures were so successful that Federal officials are rendering similar assistance this season to the stockmen of the Northwest who are suffering severely from dry weather and short pastures. Representatives of the Federal department are co-operating with State departments of agriculture, the agricultural colleges, and the Railroad Administration in moving the live stock from the drought-stricken districts to available pasture lands wherever they can be found. A survey is being made in Wisconsin, the upper peninsula of Michigan, Oklahoma, Kansas, and sections of the corn belt, to locate available pastures. Prospects are that the majority of the cattle will be accommodated on grass land, so that the meat losses resulting from the drought will be small.

Floyd Hatfield of Anaheim, a returned soldier who faced shells and poison gas on the battle front, was killed by inhaling cyanide gas while fumigating citrus trees the other day. Such an end may not seem so glorious or honorable as to die for one's conutry on the battlefield, but death does not always meet us where we would prefer to have him come, and an honorable death can be met just as well in pursuing humble and honest toil, as on the battle field.

The Beaumont Leader tells of an enthusiastic forest lover who was camping up that way and left his camp fire burning, but as he did it with no malicious intent the judge fined him only $50. We'll bet that $50 verdict sounded like anything but "only" to him.

Euclid avenue, the silk-stocking lane over at Ontario and Upland, is to have more gasoline stations allowed in its front yard. All such packages to the rear, please. After a while old Euclid will get so swell that she will forget that she ever had mules for trolleys, and that long-eared Missourians even coasted on the down-hill trip on the back platform of the same car with the human passengers.

The most profitable hill in Southern California is the hill that is so easy to speed down on Fair Oaks Avenue in South Pasadena. The speed cops of that burg gathered in $75 worth of shekels for the town strong box in one day recently. And the days are not as long as they were a while back either. San Fernando Road in Glendale is the most profitable valley for the speed cops.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Congregational Church will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Frater, 334 North Central avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. MacIntyre are rejoicing in the receipt of a cablegram saying that their daughter, Mrs. Bondaux, and their grandchild, Jeanne Gabrielle, left France on Saturday to spend the winter in Glendale.

A baby girl was born Tuesday night, September 9, 1919, at Mrs. Earley's private nursing hospital, 519 East Palmer avenue, to Mrs. E. R. Kennedy of 1024 North Central avenue, Glendale, California. Its weight was 7 pounds.

Dr. Colin Cable of 505 South Columbus avenue is taking his vacation now and he and his wife are taking a number of short trips during the time. They went to Hermosa with Mrs. Turck this morning to stay until Saturday, when they will go over to Catalina.

Rev. Clifford A. Cole and wife of 132 South Kenwood took their guests, Wm. Mitsch, wife and little daughter and Mrs. Elliott to Long Beach and San Pedro, Tuesday, to see ocean and harbor. It was the first sight of both for the guests from Kanssa.

R. E. Wheeler has begun the erection of a group of six bungalows on the north side of Patterson avenue, near Columbus. They will be of semi-colonial style and modern in every respect. This will add quite materially to the improvement of that attractive section.

A. R. McPhail, who moved from Kansas City to Southern California last spring and settled in Glendale in May, has purchased the bungalow in which he is living at 318 Ivy St. Mr. McPhail is the Pacific Coast salesman for a prominent Kansas flouring mill.

Miss Bertha Jackson of 316 Milford will start tomorrow for North Yakima, Wash., to spend the winter with an uncle whom she has never seen. W. E. Evans met him in San Francisco recently and told him about his Glendale relatives, and he sent through Mr. Evans a cordial invitation for Miss Bertha to visit him. He has a big apple ranch in the Yakima Valley.

That owners of Glendale real estate see in the present demand by newcomers for places to live an opportunity to reduce their holdings is evidenced by the statement of one of our lumber dealers that a gentleman told him he owned six houses in Glendale and not one of them was for rent. He preferred rather that they stand idle for a time if thereby he could sell them.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Geo. Alexander, of 130 West Acacia avenue gave a party Tuesday for her little son, Lester, in honor of his 2d birthday. Cake and ice-cream were served and games played by the little folk. Those taking part in the festivities were Jim and Jack Griffin, Teddy Robinson, Helen Hartwig, Regina Marshal of Alhambra, Doris and G. E. Alexander.

NAME A MISNOMER

Glendale citizens are frequently puzzled by reading in Los Angeles papers of the operations of the Glendale Consolidated Water Co. thinking it must refer to a local concern. This company formerly dominated the business in Glendale and their ruthless methods are still remembered by many. They sold their Glendale holdings to the city several years ago and now serve one or two small communities of Los Angeles city.

HARRY L. HOWE FAMILY HOME

Prof. Harry L. Howe, wife and daughter Edith of 446 Burchett, arrived at home Sunday from a whole summer's visit in Michigan, principally at the old home city Hillsdale. They also visited Detroit, Battle Creek and many other Michigan cities and enjoyed a fine trip up Lake Huron, which was a dream of delight to all. The summer was unusually pleasant for Michigan and they enjoyed every minute of it, but still it was not California. Mrs. Howe said that as soon as they reached the western slope the air seemed purer and more invigorating and Glendale never seemed so beautiful and inviting as when they landed here once more.

CHANGES IN SOUTHWEST SECTION

Charlie Force recently sold his neat little 5-room bungalow at 463 West Maple to a Mr. Priestly, of Hollywood, who moved in Monday. Charley and his mother moved up on Howard.

The Wilde place at 454 West Maple was sold recently also.

George Dodson and wife sold their place at 414 West Windsor Road and will move in with his mother, Mrs. Louise Mitchell, just across the street. They are putting up a garage and a two-room detached addition on Mrs. Mitchell's lot.

Andrew Dorschner, who recently sold his 8-room house and two lots at 470 Riverdale, is building a new home on a vacant lot he owns at 450 Riverdale Drive.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH DOINGS

This is Church Night at Central Christian and with nearly everybody back from vacations a big attendance is looked for. The prayer meeting which follows will be led by S. W. Christy and his subject is "Judas the Betrayer." Choir practice has been changed from Friday to Thursday evening to accommodate some of the members who cannot attend on the former night.

On Friday, beginning at 10 a. m. the "Social Union" will be held in the church. This is the first time Glendale has been honored with this meeting, which takes in all the Woman's Missionary Societies of the Christian Churches of the Los Angeles District. Those attending will take their lunches and the ladies of the local congregation will serve coffee. A fine program has been prepared by the women and all the preachers of the district are invited to see that all goes off well.

FOOTHILL-BEACH AUTO STAGE

Wilson's auto stage service between Pasadena and Ocean Park via Eagle Rock, Glendale, Hollywood, Sherman, Beverly and Soldiers' Home, is running a two-hour service now, the first bus passing Glendale at 7:25 a. m. westbound and 8:15 eastbound; the last one at 5:25 p. m. going west and 6:15 going east. Hourly service will be put on later, Mr. Wilson says. Broadway, Brand boulevard and Los Feliz Road are the streets used in Glendale.

ANOTHER FLU EPIDEMIC

Physicians are advising extra precautions against the flu this winter as a return of the epidemic is prophesied, some say in a milder form and others that it will be much severer than last winter. There are now four mild cases in one family in the south part of Glendale and reports are that the county hospital has nearly a hundred. People should not get scared as that is the easiest way to get the disease.

CONGREGATIONAL AUXILIARY

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Congregational Church will meet with Mrs. Lively at 334 North Central avenue tomorrow for an all-day meeting. Ladies will bring their lunch.

WILL OPEN A STUDIO FOR VOICE CULTURE IN GLENDALE

Coming from the East to Sunny California, Mrs. June Stone, widely known throughout the country as Lillian Durham, a prima donna with a phenomenal soprano voice who for a number of years starred with Weber & Fields' famous attractions, has decided to make Glendale her home, as she has retired from the stage. Mrs. Stone has for some time had in mind a Studio for Voice Culture, and after much consideration picked Glendale as an ideal spot to combine both a studio and an excellent place to live.

On September 10th Mrs. Stone will open her studio in Glendale, most convenient for all who live here and desire to have their voices trained by a thorough and competent instructor. The studio will be located at 709 North Louise. Phone Glendale 2202-J. 3t3*

PENTECOSTAL REVIVAL

The Pentecostal Revival Meetings, which are being held in Los Angeles, are attracting large audiences. The services are conducted by Mrs. A. S. McPherson, a well-known evangelist.

Doty L. Anderson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Flathers, of 316 West Windsor Road, into Los Angeles on Sunday to attend the services. He reports that the tabernacle was filled to capacity at all services. At the afternoon meeting Mrs. McPherson gave a chart talk that was very interesting and instructive. In the evening Mrs. McPherson gave another chart lecture which was also very interesting. The meetings continue all this week with services at 10:30 a. m., 3 and 7 p. m. each day. Mr. Anderson says all people of Glendale who can attend some of the meetings should make a special effort to do so, as they will be well worth the while. The tabernacle is located at Washington street and Orchard avenue. Take Washington street car and get off at Orchard avenue.

The twenty-first annual national convention of the United Spanish War Veterans will be held in San Francisco beginning September 2d.

were sent up to headquarters at Marfa, about 50 miles from the border, and the Fifth Cavalry was sent to the border. His mother recently received a letter from him conveying this information, but he said nothing whatever of the expedition into Mexico, probably because military rules forbade it.

The sailor boy, Earl Williamson, became a gunner on the U. S. S. Huntington. One day during target practice a breech block was blown out of the gun he was serving and he was dreadfuly injured, it was at first thought fatally. But he finally recovered and is now with his parents in Imperial Valley.

Verne Freeman went to far-off Siberia last June, a year ago. His command disembarked at Vladivostok and, in company with allied forces, worked his way far into the bleak interior of that vast country. He was an ambulance driver and in writing home he had seen horrors, the work of the Bolsheviki, that he never dreamed could be possible. Nothing seemed too unspeakably vile and cruel for those red beasts to do. His mother and friends are hoping he is on the way home, but have no way of ascertaining.

So those five cronies are now in five different localities, with nearly 10,000 miles separating one from the other five. All have done their best for home and country as health and strength allowed. The three serving their country have been true to flag and country and upheld the best traditions of army and navy. The younger boy, inspired by their actions, is determined to enter the navy in another year, when he is 18 and his parents will not balk him in his desire.

PLENTY OF SUGAR, SAYS MR. GONZALES

NEW YORK, New York.—Cuban warehouses are bulging with sugar, according to William E. Gonzales, American Minister to Cuba, who arrived here yesterday from Havana with the statement that he could see no reason for a sugar shortage in this country. "If the United States would send ships to Cuba in sufficient numbers, there would be plenty of sugar to fill the needs of Americans," Mr. Gonzales said.—Christian Science Monitor.

MOVIE CO. HIRES WHOLE TRAIN

Old Tropico had a movie show all its own Tuesday. A famous film company had hired from the Southern Pacific for the entire day a whole passenger train, consisting of a big engine, combination baggage and mail car, two day coaches and a sleeper. They took many scenes which will doubtless soon be shown on the screen to Glendale audiences.

EGGS MUCH HIGHER IN PRICE

Eggs are sky rocketing in price again, after the drop caused by the food hoarding agitation. This morning's quotation was 58c for selects and 55c for case count. These are the wholesale prices.

Advertise it, or advertise for it in the Evening News.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Glendale Sanitarium take pleasure in announcing that their dining room is now conducted on the European plan and is open to the public, especially to those who appreciate a good, clean, wholesome, vegetarian diet at very moderate prices.
